

Plus: Being Kaur | New Museum opens...

View this email in your browser

Across Canada & Mountain in the Spring

Sept. 28 to Oct. 11, 2022

Featuring two of the most scenic rail journeys in Canada

CANADA'S

HISTORY

Not Just Immigrants

South Asian Canadian Legacy Project aims at preserving the community's heritage through historic site tours, a travelling museum, educational resources and more.

Read more

Advertisement

Home Made Visible

In preserving and contextualizing old home movie footage from Indigenous and visible minority Canadians and restoring these histories for families and communities, this project explores how archives have the power to shape who we become and how we relate to one another. Listen now

Chinese Students Challenge Segregation

The history of school segregation is seldom remembered in Victoria, British Columbia but two buildings in the heart of today's Chinatown played a central role in the Chinese community's response to it. Read more

SubscribePast IssuesTranslate ▾RSS

Witness to War... and Peace

New museum will explore the Asian experience during the Second World War. Read more

Flying and Spying

Chinese-Canadian Kam Len “Doug” Sam served in the air force in the Second World War. Shot down in France, he gathered critical information as a spy for the Allies. Watch now

Being Kaur

Kaur Collective builds community for Sikh women through prayers. Read more

Start your subscription today and get your first issue free!

SUBSCRIBE NOW

Canada's History Archive featuring The Beaver

Please note: Some items featured in our newsletters and social media will include links to the Canada's History Archive. The Beaver magazine was founded, and for decades was published, during eras shaped by colonialism. Concepts such as racial, cultural, or gender equality were rarely, if ever, considered by the magazine or its contributors. In earlier issues, readers will find comments and terms now considered derogatory. Canada's History Society cautions readers to explore the archive using historical thinking concepts — not only analyzing the content but asking questions of who shaped the content and why.

Did you get this newsletter from a friend? Sign up for your

Subscribe	Past Issues	own and you'll be eligible to win a FREE book! We have five uniquely curated newsletters, including ones for teachers and in French. Sign Up Now	Translate ▾	RSS 📡
-----------	-------------	--	-------------	-------

 Share

 Tweet

 Forward

CanadashHistory.ca

© 2022 Canada's History. All rights reserved.

Explore

Education

Awards

Magazines

Kayak

Archive

Youth

Subscribe

Renew

Feedback

Want to change how you receive these emails? You can:

- update your preferences — this option allows you to keep some messages while exempting you from others; for example, you can stop receiving newsletters but still get your e-renewal notices for your print subscription as well as special subscriber offers and event invitations.
- unsubscribe from this list — this option will cancel all newsletters, e-renewal notices for your print subscription, special subscriber offers and event invitations.